A fund that must deploy a very large sum can't buy 2% of a small company. It needs a company priced so its check fits.

Better question than "is it justified by revenue multiples?": what kind of capital is this price built to absorb?

Before reading the pitch, check who led, whether the strategic name was essential, what the liquidation stack does, what the exit is, and what fees sit between you and the company.

> A private mark is set by buyers inside the round. A public mark is set by a larger, less forgiving crowd. None of this needs a view on the technology. It needs reading the paper.
