CROSS-BORDER NOTES

On August 7, a Uzbek bank went on state television and announced it was converting to Islamic finance.

Swipe →

Sun Choi

Banks don't reframe their operating model for a retail campaign. They do it when the regulator signals where capital is allowed to come from.

Sun Choi

Gulf capital lands where the plumbing already exists. Sharia-compliant balance sheets are the entry ticket.

Swipe →

Sun Choi

Regulatory intent precedes capital. If Tashkent normalizes Islamic finance at the bank level, sovereign issuance tends to follow.

Swipe →

Sun Choi

CROSS-BORDER NOTES

Central Asian banks are doing the compliance work Gulf capital requires before any Gulf institution has to ask.

Swipe →

Sun Choi

> Treat it like a central bank circular, not a press release. Whoever converts first sets the terms for the capital that follows.

Sun Choi
Korea · Gulf · SEA · Central Asia