A fund that must deploy a very large sum can't buy 2% of a small company. It needs a company priced so its check fits.

Better than "is it justified by revenue multiples?": what kind of capital is this price built to absorb?

Before reading the pitch, check who led, whether they must deploy, and what the exit is if the same buyers don't return.

None of this needs a view on the technology. It needs reading the paper.
