

A bank compliance team in Amman cut off my climate pitch to ask one thing: will this meet our green lending quota before the deadline.

Sustainability teams write the narrative. They do not sign the purchase order.

Compliance teams own the quota.
Missing it triggers a regulatory penalty, not a bad headline.

Local banks buy climate data because the cost of non-compliance is priced and dated. Goodwill is not.

Advisory work linking data pipelines to Korean investors is pushed by a regulatory deadline, not an impact thesis.

Who owns the compliance quota in your market? That answer moves capital, not the sustainability slide. Full story below.
