
GCC term sheets look different this quarter: debt is showing up before equity.

For two years, equity was the game: raise, climb valuations, defend the story. That stopped when nobody believed the next number.

Founders are reaching for private debt first. Not to play safe, but to stop paying the tax of defending a number.

No mark to defend. Ownership stays intact. Clean cap table. The lender underwrites cash flow, not a narrative.

The lender who shows up first gets the seat later: information rights, relationship, first call. That beats optimizing for a headline.

Which one is actually built for this corridor? Full read, linked.

Sun Choi

Korea · Gulf · SEA · Central Asia

2080