

A bank compliance team in Amman cut off my climate pitch to ask one question: does this hit our green lending quota before the deadline?

Across Jordan, Saudi Arabia, and Cambodia this year, the buyer in the room is never the sustainability team.

Sustainability teams write the narrative.
Compliance teams own the quota, and missing it triggers a regulatory penalty, not a bad headline.

Local banks buy climate data because the cost of non-compliance is priced and dated. Goodwill is not.

Even advisory work linking this data to Korean investors is pushed by a regulatory deadline, not an impact thesis.

Stop reading ESG decks to size demand. Read the mandate. Find out who gets penalized, and by when.